INTRODUCTION: QUAZAR'S SUPERPOWER - INITIATIVE

This month Quazar introduced us to the SUPERPOWER of INITIATIVE and challenged us all to take INITIATIVE as individuals and in our classrooms and school. Quazar said that INITIATIVE means looking for ways to go above and beyond what was asked of you so you can do the best job you can do. If everyone did that, we'd have a school full of leaders. That's the power of INITIATIVE!

This month, Quazar showed us that taking INITIATIVE means going the extra mile to do a great job. The video used an example of a student working on a group project with others that were talking over one another because they were so excited. The student showed INITIATIVE by volunteering to be the leader of the group to help everyone take turns. We learned that volunteering, helping others and looking for new ways to challenge yourself are all great ways to practice taking INITIATIVE. And when we take INITIATIVE, we will always know we did the best job we could because we took the next step to do something extra.

Our teachers noticed students working hard and taking INITIATIVE in the classroom and it has made our school a better place! Shout out to parents for encouraging our students to work hard at home and to look for ways to take the next step and show INITIATIVE. You're all superstars!
